ST. HELENS MOVIE NEWS

When two strong men stand face to face, determined that one or the other must die; men battling for leadership and the love of a woman, there is a scene that grips the hearts of all spectators and holds them with breathless interest. The photoplay, "The Man Trail," which will be shown at the Strand theatre Sunday night, is such a play and is full of great climaxes and thrilling action. Next Friday night the lovers of Charlie Chaplin will have an opportunity to see this well known actor in his five-part masterpiece, "Revue of 1916." It is said that this play is guaranteed to give the spectator 5000 laughs and will hold their attention from beginning to end.

At the Gem theatre Sunday night the famous photoplay "Polly Red Head," and Monday and Tuesday "The Jewel in Pawn," with Ella Hall as the star, will be shown. The Gem is getting up-to-date pictures, and some of them are shown ahead of the Portland theatres. "Little Miss Nobody," which was shown last week, occasioned very favorable comment. The picture was later shown in a Portland theatre.

A new machine has recently been installed at the Gem, which adds much to the effectiveness of the pictures.

St. Helens people who attend the movie pictures shown in our two theatres are getting the best of the good plays and both picture show houses should be well patronized every night.

EAGLE CREEK CAMP READY FOR SEASON

Forest Supervisor T. H. Sherrard of the Oregon national forest has put the Eagle Creek camp grounds in readiness for the 1917 recreation season. The water pipes have been connected up so that pure running water is available at the various camp sites, and the comfort station has been opened. New tables for use of campers and picnickers have been built, and a splendid parking place for machines is conveniently located near the entrance to the camp grounds.

A four-room tent house has been erected for the temporary headquarters of the forest officer, who is again on duty at the grounds.

Eagle Creek camp grounds are located on the Oregon national forest, 14 miles east of Portland, on the wonderful Columbia Highway. It is a place of great natural beauty—a bit of wilderness set apart by the government for the free use of the public. Over 15,000 people visited these grounds in 1916, and it is expected that several times that number will enjoy them this season.

The picturesque Eagle Creek trail leads up the canyon from the camp grounds. This trail has been cleared of the few windfalls and slides which came down during the winter, and is now open for a distance of four and a half miles.

A high bridge has been built across Eagle Creek where the trail now ends, and it is expected that the trail will be completed to Wahtum lake during the coming field season. This will open up some very attractive country that is now inaccessible and make possible a fine 27-mile hiking trip from the Columbia Highway at Eagle Creek camp grounds up the Eagle Creek canyon and over the divide to Wahtum lake, returning to the highway at Herman Ranger station by way of Herman Creek trail.

The O. W. R. & N. Company has erected a station at Eagle creek which is now a flag stop the same as Multnomah Falls, so that parties may visit the camp grounds by highway or by rail.

COUNCIL WILL HOLD EMERGENCY MEETING

Definite Work to Be Started by Agricultural Council.

An emergency meeting of the agricultural council of Columbia county will be held in the court house Saturday, May 5. The commercial clubs and other organizations of the county are asked to have representatives present. The meeting is called as a result of the statewide meeting held in Portland April 30, at which it was decided that a more definite work must be done relative to our country's food supply and the labor situation.

The plans as set before the council, if approved, will be taken before the respective organizations in the different parts of the county where, on May 12, in response to the governor's call, patriotic meetings will be held. At these meetings the plan is set forth by the government and the state will be put before the farmers.

A state labor bureau has been organized and the enlistment of the high school boys and others unfit for military service into a farm service corps is a step that will be carried out in the immediate future. The county agricultural agent will act as labor agent between the farmers and the state headquarters. Different rank will be granted these boys according to fitness for farm work and experience.

At the meetings held on May 12 a survey will be made in order to get an approximate estimate of the agricultural and food resources of the country. A feeling that overproduction and corresponding low prices may follow this effort by the farmers is being refuted by the government. It seems possible that through the department of agriculture a guarantee price and means of distribution of food products will later be offered the farmers.

The various farmers' organizations of the state are co-operating in getting open meetings of their locals on May 12. The farmers of Columbia county are urged to enter into the plan and continue their patriotic support of our country in this hour of need.

RAILROADS ENTITLED TO FAIR RETURNS

If a manufacturer was continually enlarging his plant and handling more goods, rendering more and better service to his customers, and yet at the end of ten years found that for the entire period he was making no more money than he made before he began to increase his plant and his service, he would probably begin to curtail his investment in that line of business. He would reason that to keep on putting in new money was futile.

That is practically what is happening to the railroad business, which must appeal to the investment world for the money for its expansion.—The S. P. Bulletin.

The first of the new salmon pack on Rogue river came out Wednesday. There were 1200 cases and the quality is said to be the best packed in years at Wedderburn.

The fishermen obtained a voluntary raise in the price of fish. The season is expected to be a profitable one to both employers and fishermen.
